

Distill is a conference devoted to the exploration of best practices, new technologies and progressive methods currently on the rise in software development. Your employee will leave with new knowledge about innovative ways to build great software, which they can use to infuse your team with fresh perspectives and furnish them with the most effective tools.

Hear from experts in the following areas

- Ruby, PHP, JavaScript and more
- Mobile development
- Services oriented architecture (SOA)
- Responsive design
- Data analytics
- Large scale applications
- Deployment strategies
- Team management

Connect

Distill will attract thought leaders from a variety of disciplines. Developers, architects, designers and decision-makers will congregate at the conference. The entire set of Distill events will provide excellent forums for forging new connections with individuals self-selected as being interested in emerging technologies and inspired development.

Share

Distill is a great place to share the innovative products your employee is currently working on. Sow the seeds among future clients and industry thought leaders or sign up for a lightning talk and tell the attendees how your company's idea is going to change the world.

Notable speakers include

- Nolan Bushnell, founder of Atari, Chuck-E-Cheese
- Michael Lopp, Rands in Repose
- James Whelton, co-founder of CoderDojo
- Hampton Catlin, inventor of Sass
- Konstantin Haas, maintainer of Sinatra and Travis.CI
- Matthew Weier O'Phinney, project lead on the Zend Framework
- Many more

Learn

Distill is an awesome opportunity for developers and entrepreneurs looking to cultivate skills and get educated on bleeding edge techniques and technologies. The speaker lineup is top notch: 25 speakers selected from hundreds of submitters guaranteeing your employee will leave with valuable knowledge about best practices and new technologies that they can implement at work.

Recruit

Hiring? Distill is guaranteed to attract great developers of all types. As a language agnostic event, your employee will meet and hear from programmers who work in a wide variety of different technologies, both emergent and established.

Distill is about education, cross-pollination and community--it is our hope that your employee will forge new relationships with fellow attendees and leave the conference feeling enriched, edified and inspired.

For 3 or more tickets, we are offering a group discount of 30%.
Please contact distill@engineyard.com to get your offer.